

Greg Fletcher-Harriss Profile

From a substantial career in building and developing the Commercial Fitness Industry here in Adelaide, which included short stints in the USA and Japan, Greg started with the Ericsson Business Phone Centre in 1999 as a Sales Representative, become Sales Manager in 2000 and then General Manager in 2002. In July 2003 the Ericsson Business Phone Centre merged with Ericsson Corporate Networks to become Data Mobility Voice, and in April 2004 Greg became Managing Director when founder (and now Chairman), Laurie Hearn, retired to a life divided between South Australia and the rest of the world.

With this background, Greg is passionate about teaching all of us about the tools we can use to get some real “work/life balance” in our lives. His constant ambition is to inspire people with his ideas on how to get the lifestyle they want by utilising the technology they have at hand but often don't have time to understand.

In 2008, Greg was nominated as an Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year, an accurate reflection of his innovative style, personal integrity and strategic vision for the future of the company. In 2010, he was invited as the first Managing Director of a South Australian business to join the inaugural Telstra Enterprise Partner Executive Council.

He also continues his professional development and commitment to be a forward thinking leader with his long term membership of the International CEO organization TEC (The Executive Connection).

He spends every moment of his spare time with his wife and son and feels strongly about his foundation of a commitment to fitness, health and happiness. Travel, good food and good wine are also all important components of Greg's life (hence keeping up the exercise!).
